27

Assistive Technology

As with any Assistive Technology it is important to take some time and answer a few questions before making any decisions.

- What is the limitation/disability? Is there more than one disability?
- What am I trying to do?
- Where am I trying to complete this task?
- What tools do I currently have?

28

Operating Systems

All computer systems offer built in accessibility features. Each may look a little different, but ultimately they are all offering much of the same features. These features can be accessed from the Settings screen.
